

Midas Gold/Stibnite Mine

Idaho

- The EPA continues to negotiate with Midas Gold to reach a settlement agreement for the Stibnite Mine Site in Idaho. The State of Idaho, the U.S. Forest Service, and the Shoshone-Bannock Tribes are participating, and the Nez Perce Tribe is consulting with EPA as the negotiations proceed. The U.S. Forest Service is the lead agency, and EPA is a cooperating agency for the draft environmental impact statement for Midas Gold's proposed Plan of Restoration and Operation. The EPA will also be engaged with the project under Clean Water Act Section 404.